When dining in a typical Korean restaurant with locals, get ready to cook and share your food! Doing it in Korean way means eating from the same bowl, since sharing and common dining are a big part of their culture. Sitting around the big round table, with lots of small, different dishes called “banchan” on top of it and usually one big grill in the middle of the table to grill your own meat, is not a sign of a lazy chef but an opportunity to enjoy the ritual.

Since the tradition is to eat straight from the bowl without having your own plate, seeing other people’s spoons dipped in the same pot shouldn’t surprise you. So, feel free to stick your chopsticks in that kimchi shouting: my germs!

Compared with the western customs of consuming the food, the biggest difference is that you have your personal plate where you place the food, which is not shared with the rest once it is on your plate. Also, the habit is to usually eat only one big, main dish, with possibly one or two side dishes, while Koreans have a variety of small bites.

IV. Choose the word (A, B, C or D) that best fits the blank space in the following passage. (1.5 pts)

The phrase ‘healthy lifestyle’ is an abbreviated definition of how you should live if you want to get the healthiest body you can—one that both looks good and feels good. You know the (19) _____ behaviours that describe someone who is healthy and takes care of themselves. A healthy person doesn't smoke, tries to (20) _____ a healthy weight, eats healthy foods with plenty of fruits, vegetables and fibre and, of course, exercises on a regular basis.

Then there are other elements to (21) _____ to the list. A healthy person also knows how to manage stress, gets good quality sleep each night, doesn't drink too much, doesn't sit too much—basically, does everything in (22) _____ all the time. When you look at everything that could possibly go into a healthy lifestyle, you can see just how hard all of those things are in our (23) _____ world.

The good news is that you don't have to change everything at the same time. In fact, the trick to healthy living is making small (24) _____ —taking more steps each day, adding fruit to your cereal, having an extra glass of water, or saying no to that second helping of buttery mashed potatoes. One thing you can do right now to make your lifestyle healthier is to move more.
