

We use measurements of latitude and together to locate any place on Earth. We call these the of a place. We always write the first. For example:

New York City is at a latitude of 41° to the north of the equator and a longitude of 74° to the west of the Prime Meridian. Its geographic coordinates are 41° N, 74° W.

London

Helsinki

Tokyo

Johannesburg

New Delhi

Washington D.C.

Rome

Buenos Aires