

Open Cloze

Last week, It the worst day of my entire life. I was on a boat to Brazil. I on holidays so I very happy. During the trip my parents, were with me, felt that something strange happening. In that moment, we realised that the ship had crashed with a big rock and that a lot of water getting into the boat. I very scared I never learnt how to swim and want to die. Suddenly we another ship very near of us. It very big, white and red. A lot of smoke coming from its chimney. The ship came closer and when we could see better, we saw that the ship empty. Nobody inside that ship. In that moment the captain of our ship told us to to the other ship to be safe. In the moment I put my feet that ship, I felt something very strange. I felt I stepping on water but my feet dry. I told my parents that I like that ship because there something wrong in there. After some minutes, I turned to the sea to see that the ship on which we going to Brazil had sunk.

When I turned myself to see my parents I see them. They had disappeared. Nobody on the ship but me. I wanted cry but I didn't. I decided close my eyes "maybe I am dreaming" I thought but I wasn't. When I opened my eyes I a man. He a sailor. He tall and muscular. He brown beard and he was very handsome but for my surprise, he not alive, he dead. The man I was starring at... was a ghost.

I went where he was and I asked him what had happened. In that moment he told me that the ship where I was, was indeed my bed and that I sleeping. Suddenly I opened my eyes and I saw myself in bedroom. I realised that I had had a terrible nightmare.
