Conditional Sentences with present and Future Forms
You can use conditional sentences with if to talk about cause and results.

	Use	Form	Example
Zero conditional	Present facts * Use present simple in both clauses	If + present simple , present simple	If you heat ice , it melts
First conditional	Future facts Use simple present in If clause and the future with be going to or will in the result clause.	If + present simple , subject + will / be going to + V1	*If it rains, I will take my umbrella *If you help me, I am going to give you a reward
may/ might in the result	to suggest something is possible, but not certain.	If + present simple, may / might + V1	If it is sunny , I may go to the beach
Conditional Sentences with When and Unless.	* Use when in place of If to talk about general truths. Use the present tense in both clauses. *use the word unless in place If in negative sentences	* When + present simple , subject + V1 *if……not = unless	* When water reaches 100°C, it boils. * Unless I study, I won't get top marks.
