

1. a bar or similar establishment, typically one that is shabby or sleazy.
2. to walk or move awkwardly, as if you have lost your balance, or to cause someone to move awkwardly or to lose his or her balance
3. a girl or young woman
4. a boy or young man
5. an underground prison, especially in a castle
6. a place where alcoholic drinks are sold and drunk
7. the strong main tower of a castle
8. a gate on a road or bridge at which you pay an amount of money in order to be allowed to use the road or bridge
9. a group of soldiers living in or defending a town or building, or the buildings that the soldiers live in
10. a strong castle in or near a city, where people can shelter from danger, especially during a war a low wall along the edge of a roof, bridge etc.
11. used as a name for Scotland, or for the northern part of Britain in ancient times
12. a small narrow crack or opening
13. a piece of string in the centre of a candle, or a similar part of a light, that supplies fuel to a flame
14. the early hours of the morning, between twelve o'clock at night and the time when the sun rises

15. a street in central London that has many restaurants and cafes, and a lively nightlife;

a) garrison	i) tavern
b) lass	j) Caledonia
c) tollgate	k) stagger
d) chink	l) wick
e) keep	m) parapet
f) drinking den	n) Charlotte Street
g) lad	o) dungeon
h) wee hours	p) citadel