Exam strategy

Sometimes you will have to compare two or more texts with very similar vocabulary and grammar, but different meanings. Find the key words in the texts, and then look carefully at the words around them to understanding the whole meaning.

Three relationships

Danny

When I met Emma a year ago, I wasn't interested in her. Then suddenly, I had a crush on her! When I asked her out at a party a few weeks later and she said yes, it was the happiest moment of my life. But three months later, Emma broke up with me. We didn't have an argument, but it was terrible. She said we got along well together, and she enjoyed spending time with me, but she only liked me as a friend.

Evan

Since I met Sarah three months ago, I've been totally in love. Since then, we've spent all our time together, we haven't had any arguments, and we get along very well. We've even had a party together! My friends think we'll break up one day, but I don't believe that will happen.

James

Ana and I met two years ago, but we were only friends at first. Then at her birthday party a year ago, I realized I had a crush on her. I asked her out the next day, and when she said yes, I felt very happy. A few weeks later, we began to have arguments. Things aren't good anymore. I think we should break up and just be friends.
