Grammar training

State or Action Verbs?

Which sentence(s) is/are correct? Tick A, B or both.

A I don't agree with you.
B I'm not agreeing with you.

A I always watch the 10 o'clock news on TV.
B I'm watching the 10 o'clock news now.

A I don't know what you mean by ‘unfair’
B I don't know what you're meaning by ‘unfair’.

A I used to listen to the radio while I was working.
B I was working and listening to the radio at the same time.

A I'm realising that you're angry with me.
B I realise that you're angry with me.

A Now I understand what you're saying.
B Now I'm understanding what you're saying.

A I'm not minding wait if you aren't ready yet.
B I don't mind waiting if you aren't ready yet.

A I'm not sure if I'm coming; it depends on the weather.
B I'm not sure if I'm coming; it’s depending on the weather.

A It isn't mattering if you aren't ready yet.
B It doesn't matter if you aren't ready yet.

A I like this soup. What's in it?
B I'm not enjoying this soup. It’s too salty.

A The doctor is weighing the baby.
B It seems the baby weighs 13 kg.

English__on_the_go

LIVEWORKSHEETS