Fill in the blanks with the correct form of the verbs in parentheses.

After I (turn) _____ 20 in 2015, I (spend) _____ a year in Germany studying German at Frankfurt University. Every Sunday I (have) dinner at Bauhaus Vetter. On one occasion, while I (eat) _____ there, an attractive woman (come) _____ up to my table and (tell) _____ me, "I (wonder) _____ if you wanted to walk with me in the park?" I (never - meet) _____ her, so I was rather shocked. I (already - accept) _____ her invitation when I noticed that a violent-looking man (look) at my table.

Seeing my discomfort, the girl whispered to me, in English, "That guy (follow) _____.me all day. I (call) _____ the police many times but they (not–come) _____ yet. Go to the park in five minutes, please!" and then, she went away. When I got to the park, the woman was not there. I asked an old lady who was sitting there if she (see) _____ a young and attractive woman waiting around. The old lady answered, “There was a beautiful woman here but she (already – go) _____ away. In fact, she (run) _____ to the railway station one minute ago.” But she (leave) _____ me a note. It said, “I (explain) _____ everything. Meet me on platform 12. Please, hurry up or I (disappear) _____ before you (arrive) _____ there”.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

LIVEWORKSHEETS