- B7. Many of you who have heard of the RSPCA and the work it does. RSPCA stands for the B8. Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals whose main aim it is to promote animal
B9. welfare. It was founded in 1824 and aims to ensure them that pets, farm animals and wild
B10. animals are not harmed in any more way. It tries to encourage people not to ignore animal
B11. suffering, and to help fight all forms of cruelty neither. What can you do to help? Many people
B12. believe that you need to dedicate a so huge amount of time to do volunteer work, but this is
B13. not the case. Without going into too much detail, there is many volunteer work for everyone,
B14. however much or little free time you have. For example, if you are a far patient person and you
B15. don't lose your temper such easily, this kind of work would be perfect for you. You can be sure
B16. that both the animals and their owners will be very grateful for any help what you can give them.
