From the youtube channel: https://www.youtube.com/@jenvcampbell

Watch the video and fill the gaps:

-These fairy tales are thought to have been inspired _____ real life events which is particularly fascinating.

-In her previous video, the speaker (Jen Campbell) talked about the _____ on the tale and that the tale was inspired by the great famine of Europe.

-In_____ Georg Ossegg, a German school teacher decided to do some research because he's been hearing _____ about a specific part of Germany where he spent a lot of the Second World War....the locals called their forest _____

-Inside this cottage the teacher discovered a _____scrawled on a piece of paper.

-According with the investigation, Katharina Schraderin was born in _____ and she became famous for her brilliant gingerbread _____

-Nuremberg's baker, Hans Metzler, wasn't happy with Katherina because her brilliant gingerbread was_____ his.

-Hans asked for her_____

-After refusing Hans, Katharina was accused of being_____

-Hans and his sister Grete _____Katharina.

-The German teacher believed that the Brothers Grimm knew this story, but they decided to change it because _____an evil witch. They made the adult children and innocent because that was more Christian.

-However, there is just one slight problem: George Ossegg doesn't exist. George is also a creation of a satirist called Hans Traxler.....He was obsessed of how_____ can turn a tale into a legend.

-In fact, a University in Japan loved so much the book, that they say they wanted to _____

-In her next video Jen will talk about_____

LIVEWORKSHEETS