Reading: How to deal with a sleep-talking husband

Most women would find it infuriating to be woken up night after night by their husband talking in his sleep. But one woman has found an interesting way of dealing with the problem. 1____ And then she posts them on the Internet.

Thirty-six-year-old Karen Slavick Lennard is a web-products manager, and she's married to Adam, an advertising account director, also thirty-six. They live together in southwestern London. Karen first entered Adam's lines onto her laptop by hand, but now she uses a voice-activated recorder. "I find every single thing Adam says hilarious," she says, "I cannot believe what he comes out with, and neither can he. We laugh like crazy every morning." 2____ Then he suddenly stops.

Adam talks about everything and anything in his sleep; from vampire penguins to zombie guinea pigs. Examples of the things he has said in a typical week include, from Tuesday night: "Pork chops are the most satisfying. Mmmmmmm. Dangle them from the ceiling." 3____ And then on Sunday at 5 a.m., he mumbled:

"Your mom's at the door. Bury me deep. Bury me deep." Another of his most memorable comments is: "Shhhhhh. Shhhhhh. I'm telling you: your voice, my ears. A bad combination."

Adam was shocked when he first heard the strange statements recorded by his wife. "I have no recollection of the absurd things I say," he explains. "They are not things that I would ever say or that any normal person would ever say." At first, Adam was put out by the recordings and he refused to listen to them, but later he realized that they were fun. "It was just my subconscious fully uninhibited and without restraint," he says. 4____ And both he and his wife look forward to listening to the tapes in the morning.

In fact, Karen and Adam are not the only ones who find Adam's outbursts entertaining. 5____ The couple has now started selling T-shirts and bags printed with Adam's comments on the site. The most popular among them are products featuring this one: "Don't leave the duck there. It's totally irresponsible."
