Bactrian camels are big animals. They can weigh around 450kg that's more than a human! They've got bushy eyebrows and two rows of eyelashes. Their hair is long and thick in winter. In summer it drops off.

Bactrian camels eat plants with sharp thorns and spiky leaves. They eat also the snow because it is watery.

They can carry heavy loads on their backs. They store fat in their humps and water in their body.

Herdsmen look after Bactrian Camels. I like these camels because I love their how they dance to attract females.
