Situation:

Andi wants to start writing his own novel. He consults this matter to his literature teacher.

- Andi : Excuse me, Sir.
Mr. Albert : Come on, Andi, Sit down, please.
Andi : Thank you, Sir. Actually, I'd like to talk to you about something. Do you have anytime for me now?
Mr. Albert : Sure..sure. What is it?
Andi : I actually, really want to start writing my own novel. When I started, I realized that writing novel is harder than writing short-stories which I often wrote before. I need your advice, Sir.
Mr. Albert : That's good, Andi. It's nice to hear that.
Um, there is actually no manual on how to wrote something. It all depends on your imagination, and how you can drag the readers to the world you create. The most important thing is that you should know and understand what you want to write first. You should think carefully of the theme, the genre, the characters, and the plot. Or, at least you should know who your characters are and what their characters are.
Andi : Should I make a list of all characters I have in mind?
Mr. Albert : That would be better. Just start writing it, Andi. Follow your imagination. Read as many sources as possible to broaden your knowledge. It will help you write better, I believe.
Andi : Alright. Thank you very much, Sir.
Mr. Albert : You're welcome. You can come to me anytime, Andi.
