Spotlight 9

Degrees of Comparison

Task 9506

Put the adjectives in brackets in the comparative or superlative form.

BATMAN FOREVER!

Tim Burton introduced the modern 'Batman' to cinema screens with the films Batman in 1989 and Batman Returns in 1992, The superhero world in Burton's films is the _____ (dark) and _____ (ugly) of all Batman films and Batman's character is_____ (serious) and thoughtful than in other character portrayals. Joel Schumacher's films Batman Forever in 1995 and Batman and Robin in 1997 have a _____ (light) mood and are _____ (suitable) for families than Burton's films.

The script is _____ (funny), the design is _____.(colourful) and the characters are _____(cheerful). However, the films were not successful. Some people even think that Batman and Robin is the _____(bad) superhero film ever made. Batman returned with Christopher Nolan's Batman Begins in 2005 and the Dark Knight in 2008. Nolan's films had _____(impressive) special effects, a _____ (talented) cast and a _____ (good) story than previous Batman films. The Dark Knight was the _____ (successful) film of 2008 and many people believe it is the _____(good) Batman film ever made.