- B. Jim asked the officer for a solicitor to help him.
- C. At the same time, the police arranged for a barrister to prosecute him.
- D. They took him to the police station and formally charged him with the crime.
- E. When the trial began and he appeared in court for the first time, he pledged his innocence.
- F. The next morning the police arrested him.

Part 2

- A. His barrister also said he was innocent and asked the court to acquit him. = Sentence 1
- B. While he was in prison, he applied for parole.
- C. As a result, the judge sentenced him to two years in prison.
- D. He was released after 18 months.
- E. However, there were several witnesses, and the evidence against him was overwhelming.
- F. Having all the proof they needed, the jury returned a guilty verdict.

Part 3

- A. Unfortunately, prison failed to rehabilitate him and after his release he continued with his misdeeds, attacking an old woman in the street. = Sentence 1
- B. Jim promised to reform and the pensioner withdrew her call for more severe retribution.

Crime & the law

- C. With this in mind, instead of passing a custodial sentence, he fined him a lot of money and ordered him to do community service.
- D. He was re-arrested and returned to court.
- E. His new victim, a pensioner, thought that the judge was being too lenient on Jim and called for the reinstatement of corporal punishment and capital punishment!
- F. At his second trial the judge agreed that prison was not a deterrent for Jim.

3. Now look at this extract from a politician's speech and complete the gaps with one of the words or phrases from Exercises 1 and 2. In some cases, more than one answer may be possible.

Are you worried about crime? I am. We read it every day in the papers. A terrible crime has been 1....., the police have 2..... someone, he has appeared in front of a jury in a 3..... of law, he has 4..... his innocence but has been found 5..... of his crime and he has been 6..... to 10 years in prison. We are all very relieved that the criminal is being punished for his 7....., and 8..... citizens like you and me can sleep more safely at night.

But what happens next? We all hope, don't we, that the prisoner will benefit from society's 9....., that a spell in prison will 10..... him and make him a better person. We all hope that he will 11..... and become like us. We all hope that when he is eventually 12..... and let loose on the streets, he will be a good character, the threat of another spell in jail being a suitable 13..... which will stop him from breaking the law again. Oh yes.

But let's face it. The reality is usually very different. The prisoner may be released on 14....., before the end of his sentence. He will try to re-enter society. But then he often becomes a 15..... himself, unable to find work and rejected by society. It isn't long before he's back in prison again.

So what alternatives are there, I hear you say. What can we do to the 16..... to make sure he doesn't commit another crime? There are alternatives to prison, of course, such as 17..... in which he will provide a service to those around him. Or he can pay a large 18..... . Alternatively, we could establish a more severe system of punishment, including 19..... and 20..... , but we like to consider ourselves civilised, and the idea of beating or executing someone is repellent to us. Oh yes.

The answer, of course, is far simpler. We need to be tough not on the criminal, but on the cause of the crime. We should spend less of the taxpayer's money funding the 21..... and 22..... and all the other people who work for the legal system, and put the money instead into supporting deprived areas which are the breeding grounds for crime.
