NATURE vs. NURTURE

There are two schools of (1) ..... regarding the origin of personality: the nature and the nurture. According to the nature school of thoughts, our personality is determined by the (2)..... we receive or (3) ..... from our parents biologically, through our (4) ..... People who support this school believe that babies are born (5) ..... a personality. On the other hands, according to the nurture school of thoughts, our personality is (6) ..... by the environment, which is a combination of (7) ..... from our family, friends, (8) ....., and education; and babies are born without a personality.

It is almost impossible to settle the (9) ..... between nature and nature for 2 reasons. Firstly, it is very difficult to conduct (10) ..... on real people in their real life. Besides, there is no way to put a person in a laboratory and watch them develop.

In the meantime, the most recent conclusion is that both our (11) ..... and the (12) ..... play important roles in determining our personality.
