Now open your book (Project 1 p.60) or read here about this English town. Listen to the text as well. Hallgasd és olvasd a könyved 60. oldalán lévő szöveget.

coast = tengerpart

Tunbridge Wells is in south-east England, about sixty kilometres from London. It isn't a very old town. It's about 350 years old. So it hasn't got a castle or anything like that. It's famous for its water. People think it's good for you.

This is the old part of the town. It's called the Pantiles. There are lots of cafés and restaurants here. There's a market on Saturdays, too. A lot of visitors come to see the Pantiles.

This is the modern part of the town. People call it the Precinct. The shopping centre and the post office are here. The Town Hall and the police station are here, too. There are also two theatres, a small museum and a library in this part of town.

There's a station in Tunbridge Wells. Trains from here go to London and to Hastings on the coast. A lot of people in Tunbridge Wells take the train to London every day. They work in the banks, offices and shops there. Opposite the station there's a big park. It's called Calverley Grounds. You can play tennis and some other sports here, and there's a nice café, too. In the winter there's an ice rink here and you can go ice skating.

Write about your own hometown.

1. What do you like about your hometown?
2. What don't you like about your hometown?
3. What can you do in your hometown?

You can begin like this... Kezdheted így például:

My hometown is Szeged.

I like the parks, the cinema, the shopping centre called Árkád,

I don't like the bus station, it's too old and the market in Cserepes sor,

There are a lot of things to do:

we can go shopping,

we can go to the cinema,

we can see the animals in the zoo....
