Lady finger is a type of green vegetable. As its name suggests, it has the shape of a long finger with a small tip at the narrower end. The other end is usually lighter green. When you look at the cross section cut of a lady finger, you can see a lot of white-coloured round seeds inside the vegetable. Lady finger is famous for its inside stickiness. In Vietnam, lady finger is steamed and served with "chao", a sauce made from fermented tofu. It is also present in many grills and barbecue parties. Lady finger is good for your eyes and skin.

21. The name of the mentioned vegetables describes its appearance.

22. The two ends are the same size.

23. Each lady finger has a few seeds inside.

24. It is quite sticky inside the lady finger.

25. Lady fingers bring no health benefits.

Choose the option that best completes each numbered blank in the passage.

Japanese people have some important eating etiquettes, especially seating. In a traditional Japanese dinner, seating arrangements are important and symbolic. On a mat, diners (26. must/ may/ could) sit on their heels with their legs tucked beneath the butt. The hosts may suggest you sit (27. formally/ comfortably/ politely), but make sure you do not spread your legs out (28. in front/ across/ behind). Which seat to take also matters. The middle of one side of the (29. chair/ table/ room) is for the host. The most honoured guest should be invited to sit (30. opposite/ behind/ beside) the host. That means he will sit in the middle of the other side of the table. The second most important guest will be seated next.
