I feel like a million dollars.

Funny-looking old thing of course, but one never knew.

It's our weakness, not our strength, that endears us to those who love us.

The notion had crossed her mind in the night, and though she had at once dismissed it as highly improbable, there was no denying it, at that hour of the morning it had a nasty look.

“If you haven’t got the gift no one can give it to you, but if you have you can be taught how to use it.”

Oh, nothing.

"If you only knew the agony I suffered when you were ill! I don't know what I should have done if you'd died!"
