Task 2

Corruption has happened for many years and today it becomes a bad culture in Indonesia for some reasons.

Most adult Indonesia or foreigners have known and admitted that corruptions happen in many places. The daily newspapers, news program on TV and radio have reported corruptions are done everywhere, almost in all department or public services of this country. Corruptions happen in health, education department, and banks. When we manage to get some documents in public service offices, we usually need much money to pay. Manipulations happen everywhere.

The actions to eliminate corruption are weak. The ever stronger culture seems not to come to an end when the responsible institutions who have to reinforce the justice today commit corruption. This is the worst. Corruption happened in police department, court where judges, public prosecutors, lawyers make deals to do corruption. All of us also heard in the end of 2004 Probosutedjo reported that he had bribe the Supreme Court, or called Mahkamah Agung which becomes the highest level where the justice can be obtained. Perhaps you have to try to come to the local courts and see what happen there. You will see practices of bribery and other kinds of corruption. Therefore, we can say that corruptions become our culture.

The citizens have no goodwill to fight against the corruption. They create the situations in which people have opportunities to do corruptions. The citizens like to break the rules because they are not disciplined. For example, in the street when they drive a car or ride motorcycle, they do not have driving license or necessary documents. Then, they are caught by local policeman. To avoid more difficulties, they like to bribe the officers. The officer lets them go then. In other words, the citizens and officers are the same, doing corruption together.

Based on the reasons, we can conclude that corruption is becoming a bad culture in Indonesia. Corruptions happen in every department and every sector of public services. The actions to eliminate corruption are weak, while in other hand the officers love to be bribed. The citizens also have no goodwill to end the circle of corruption. It's seems that all of that because of the corruption has become Indonesian culture.

There is no best way to deal with pests in agriculture. Pesticides which are commonly used may cause many problems. I think combining different management operations is the most effective way to control pests.

Firstly, the chemicals in the pesticides may build up as residues in the environment and in the soil which absorbs the chemicals. This reduces the quality of farm product.

Secondly, pests can gradually become resistant to pesticides. This means that newer and stronger ones have to be developed.

Lastly, some pesticides affect non target plants and animals such as fish and bees. This affects the ecology and environment as well.

So, understanding of ecology of an area helps a lot in pest control. Pesticides should be chosen and applied carefully so that they don't affect the ecological balance and environment.

Therefore, integrated pest management is a safe and more effective option to fight pest in agriculture and livestock.
