

Match.

Pull	Christmas stockings
Hang	relatives
Watch	St. Valentine's Day
Light	a parade
Celebrate	crackers
invite	candles

Choose the correct sentence.

- a. The children play snowballs now.

b. The children are playing snowballs now.
- a. There was a party in Saturday evening.

b. There was a party on Saturday evening.
- a. How you celebrate Easter?

b. How did you celebrate Easter?
- a. — Where is the parade? — At 10 o'clock.

b. — When is the parade? — At 10 o'clock.
- a. The Halloween was party scary?

b. Was the Halloween party scary?
- a. There are some crackers on the table.

b. There is some crackers on the table.

Circle the correct item.

- May Day is                      May 1st.

on                      in                      at
- Father Christmas comes                      midnight.

on                      in                      at

3. We always visit our relatives                  Christmas.

on                                  in                                  at

4. What joke                                  on your friend yesterday?

were you play                                  did you play                                  did you played

5. Where                                  my presents?

do                                  are                                  was

6. When                                  usually buy a New Year tree?

is your dad                                  are your dad                                  does your dad

Fill in the gaps.

We decorate a Christmas tree with (o)                                  , (t)
and (l)                                  .

I like watching (f)                                  on Independence Day.

My cousin always (p)                                  eggs at Easter.

When it's cold, we sit near the (f)                                  in our living-room.

Find the mistakes and write the correct variant of the word.

Mrs. Brown cook roast turkey for Christmas dinner.

There are some cards on the table yesterday.

We sing Christmas carols last year.

I didn't watched an adventure film last week.

The children is making snowflakes now.

People usually go to church at Easter Day.