PECHA KUCHA PRESENTATIONS

Pecha Kucha is a Japanese word which means 'chit-chat', or a friendly conversation.

It is also a type of presentation.

- For a Pecha Kucha presentation, you can only use a maximum of 20 slides.
- You can only talk about each slide for 20 seconds.
- You can't control the slides – they change automatically.
- The idea of Pecha Kucha is to stop people talking on and on and on ...
- The idea is also to stop people having slides with hundreds of words and complicated visuals and animations.
- Pecha Kucha presentations must be creative and original because you can only have 20 times 20 seconds of presentation.

8 PRESENTATION MISTAKES TO AVOID

SLIDE	SLIDE	SLIDE
Mistake 1: The number of words on a slide When there are a lot of words on one slide, people can't read it. Write the key words, not every word you say.	Mistake 4: The font you use Some fonts are difficult to read, especially at a distance. Arial and Garamond are usually clear. Don't change fonts frequently for no reason.	Mistake 7: Spelling and grammar mistakes These can create a bad impression.
Mistake 2: Colours With very colourful backgrounds and fonts, it's impossible to read the text. Choose a dark background with light letters, or a light background with dark letters.	Mistake 5: The font-size A very small font size is difficult to read, especially from a distance. Depending on the font, around size 30 is good.	Mistake 8: Too many / No bullet points Bullet points can make it easy to see the main points of your text. But when everything has a bullet point, it's difficult to know what is or isn't important.
Mistake 3: No visuals Pictures can make presentations interesting and easy to understand. With only text, a presentation can be boring and unattractive.	Mistake 6: Complicated and unnecessary visuals and animations Arrows, boxes, circles and graphs can be useful. But when you use complicated visuals and animations, it can be difficult to understand. Keep it simple and clear.
