Sentence	Use: Refers to something…
	the speaker thinks is likely to happen in the future is the opposite of the real / present situation is an imaginary situation and result in the past is a past condition with a present result
If you think that your university degree will guarantee you a job, you might be disappointed. Half of US graduates think that if they had studied a different subject at university, they would be better off. If I wasn't studying medicine, I would probably feel more uncertain about my career path.	If I had gone to university later in life, I would have thought more carefully about my subject choice If graduates are to further their careers, they will have to keep keep learning.