

Bài 10: Combine each of the following sets of simple sentences into one complex sentence.

1. The strike was going to be called off. The leader told me that.
2. We can succeed only by combined effort. It goes without saying.
3. He may become a member. I don't know.

4. He is not educated. He is well experienced
5. I sank into the water. I felt great confusion of thought. I cannot describe it.
6. I went there. I found the door locked.
7. There is heavy rainfall here. Grapes will not grow in such places.
8. It may rain. Then the match will be cancelled.
9. You finish dressing. I will wait here.

Bài 11: Decide whether each of the following lines is a phrase (P), independent clause (IC), or dependent clause (DC).

1. because it was easy
2. a pearly red balloon
3. after I submitted my essay
4. the movie was interesting
5. jumped across the wide path
6. I like kiwis
7. although writing is complicated
8. there is so much to say
9. if I want to learn everything
10. a heavy, old book

Bài 12: Identify the clauses by placing square brackets [] around dependent clauses and curly brackets { } around independent clauses and then decide whether the sentence is compound, complex or compound-complex.

1. Even if every step seems difficult you should keep trying for the best things are worth fighting for.
2. I did my very best to write a good cover letter and I finally sent my application to my favorite company for review.
3. Whenever the rain falls I remember how important the simple things are and I feel glad to be where I am.
4. If you really want good English editing service you should try it since it's fast and efficient.
5. Every morning I get up early and I get ready to go out but today my alarm didn't ring.
6. I think summer is the best time of year because everything is growing and green so the whole world seems new.
7. Although travel can be fun alone it's better if you take a friend given that experiences are always better if they're shared.
8. As soon as you get my letter write back to me and I will think of something new to write back to you whenever I get your response.
9. I really want to know how to get a ticket yet every time I try to call the office I get a busy signal.
10. No matter how much you study it takes practice and application to really learn how to master English so just keep trying to use what you know as often as you can and you'll succeed!

