

They say cats are lazy.
We only sleep and eat.
To me it sounds crazy,
So don't believe a word.
I always get up early at quarter to seven.
I run and meow loudly to wake up everyone.
I usually get tired then, and nap until eleven.
I often dream about playing in the sun.
I eat and wash the dishes at half past twelve.
Don't think I'm bad at it, I have to feed the mice.

At quarter past two I tidy up the shelves.
Of course, I need a rest now, so I close my eyes.
I never do the hoovering, I never walk the dog.
But I often go shopping at quarter to eight.
Before I go to bed I sometimes write my blog.
At half past nine I'm always on my mat.
They say cats are lazy.
We only sleep and eat.
To me it sounds crazy,
So don't believe a word.
