

3 Finding analogies, similes, and metaphors Throughout his lecture on Adélie penguins, the professor uses figurative language. Read the sentences from the lecture with a partner and underline the figurative language. Then write A for analogy, P for personification, S for simile, or a combination of letters, next to each.

1. _____ No one can resist these awkward little creatures that appear to be dressed in black and white suits.
2. _____ Antarctica is like a huge and desolate icy desert, and only the strongest forms of life survive there.
3. _____ Because of this need for order, penguins build nests in perfect rows and the nesting area looks very much like the streets of a city.
4. _____ I've observed the delicate and kind way they treat each other, standing very close and swaying back and forth as if they are dancing to celebrate their marriage.
5. _____ Well, the sea leopard's jaw is just as tough as the white shark's.
6. _____ When the mating season finally ends, the penguins line up in rows like little black and white soldiers and prepare to march to the sea.
