1.Read the article about plot types in films. Match headings a-d with plot types 1-4.

a Romeo and Juliet

b James Bond

c Star Wars

d The Wolf of Wall Street

Do you ever get that feeling that you know what is going to happen in a film before you have seen it? That's because most films have one of the following plot types.

1_____

The hero has to meet and challenge a much more powerful and dangerous enemy. Sometimes they have friends, but sometimes they are left alone without help by everyone. Despite almost certain death, the hero somehow manages to beat the enemy. Films with this plot type ask the question: what would you do in this situation? Would you run and hide or would you fight?

2_____

The hero is stuck in poverty or powerlessness. Gradually, they acquire wealth or power (or love) but then they are made to believe a lie by an enemy or put in danger by a friend and they lose it all. The hero has to fight to get it all back again. Films with this plot type ask the question: what would you do if you lost everything?

3_____

The hero begins a difficult task to find something that will help other people. The journey is dangerous and on the way, the hero is usually caught. They successfully stay alive and eventually they return with the prize. Films with this plot type ask the question: how far would you go to help others?

4_____

The hero has a goal that they try to achieve. They have to deal with difficult choices and they make some bad decisions. They start to lose control of the situation and as a result they make more bad decisions. The hero can't be helped to survive. Despite being good, the hero is overcome and killed deliberately or dies. Films with this plot type ask the question: would you do anything to achieve your goal?
