

Let's go to the restaurant!

1. Introduction - Watch the video and fill in the gaps.

Sometimes we go to _____ to eat food. The person who serves you at the table is called the _____. and if they are female, a _____. The different sections of a meal are called a _____:

- 1) First there is the _____
- 2) Then, there is the _____
- 3) Finally, there is the _____ also called a _____.

_____ is usually offered at the end of a meal too.

Of course the meal must be paid for. You ask for the _____ or _____.

2. Match the words on the left with its definition on the right

1. dish ●
2. portion ●
3. starter ●
4. main course ●
5. dessert ●
6. beverage ●
7. bill (BrE) ●
8. menu ●

- The principal dish or meal
- An amount of (cooked) food of one kind
- Any type of drink except water
- A quantity of food for one person as served in a restaurant
- (AmE – check) an account for food and drink in a restaurant, hotel, etc.
- A usually sweet course or dish (e.g. fruit, ice cream, or pastry) served at the end of a meal
- The first in a series, especially the first course of a meal; an appetizer; hors d'oeuvre (French)
- A list of dishes available in a restaurant

3. What's on the menu? Access the link and solve the exercise

<https://learningapps.org/watch?v=pzouhvni523>

4. Answer these questions. The correct answers give you the different ingredients of a popular British dish. What is the dish?

1. You are looking for a table. You see a table. It's got the sign "Reserved" on it. Do you ...

- ☐ a) Sit at the table? (--» boiled rice)
- ☐ b) Look for another table? (--» fried fish)

2. You want to pay. What do you ask for?

- ☐ a) The bill (--» vinegar)
- ☐ b) The bell (--» tomato sauce)

3. When you get the bill, it says "Service not included". This means ...

- ☐ a) you must wash up (--» chicken)
- ☐ b) you must leave some extra money for the waiter/ a tip (--» chips)

The popular British dish is _____ and _____ (with _____).