VOCABULARY

- 1 Complete the text with the phrases in the box.

a lot in common	always be there	click
close friends	drifted apart	fought
got along really well	hit it off
our separate ways	ups and downs

Charlotte and I first met when we were in college and we (1) hit it off immediately. We were at a party and we spent the whole evening laughing and talking. Very soon, we became (2) close friends. We had the same interests and the same taste in music so we had (3) a lot in common. We did a lot of things together and we (4) got along really well. At the time, I was dating a girl named Mandy from my hometown. But we didn't see each other often, and slowly we (5) drifted apart. When we finally decided to go (6) our separate ways, it was no surprise to our friends that Charlotte and I started dating. But our relationship changed and we didn't (7) click in the same way. "Everyone has their (8) ups and downs," Charlotte said to me, but I knew something was wrong. We (9) fought about little things and we finally broke up completely after one fight. I can't even remember what it was about. The funny thing is that we're now the best of friends and we have been for more than ten years. We know we'll (10) always be there for each other.

2 Match the questions (a-g) with the responses (1-7).

- a Do you have a lot in common with him/her?
- b Are your close friends the same as his/hers?
- c Did you hit it off immediately?
- d Are there any times when you don't get along well?
- e What kinds of things do you disagree about?
- f Do you think you will drift apart or become closer as you get older?
- g How sure are you that he/she will always be there for you?

- 1 No. At first, I didn't think she was interested in me at all. It was a long time before we clicked.
- 2 Not at all. She has her social life and I have mine.
- 3 One hundred percent. I believe that marriage is for life.
- 4 Politics. So we try not to talk about it.
- 5 We'll never go our separate ways. Every day, the love between us gets stronger.
- 6 Yes, we have our ups and downs. Especially when one of us is stressed.
- 7 In some ways, we're very different, but we share the same interests.

SUBJECT: RE: Visit

Hi Philip,
Just a quick note to say yes - no problem. We'd be really happy to show your friend around when he comes to Chicago. Can you tell us a little more about him? What's his name? What kinds of things does he like to do? When's he coming? Has he been here before?
Love,
Katy & Paul
P.S. Could you send us a picture of him?
