Fast fashion

Do you like fashion? Are you wearing new clothes? Do you buy new clothes every month? For many people, the answer to these questions is 'yes'. In the past, people didn't buy many clothes. They gave their old clothes to their brothers and sisters, or recycled them in the home. But today, many clothes are cheap. People buy clothes and they only wear them two or three times. They don't want them after two or three months. We call this 'fast fashion'. It's fun, but it's bad for the environment.

Everyone needs clothes, but how can you help the environment? Here are some ideas.

- 1 Don't buy many new things. Buy one good T-shirt, not six cheap ones.
- 2 Recycle your old clothes. We all have clothes at home that we don't wear. Some people sell their clothes online, or swap them with friends. You can give good clothes to a charity shop and send very old or damaged clothes to a recycling centre.
- 3 Buy recycled clothes and accessories. Matt and Nat is a company that makes bags. But the bags aren't made of leather – they're made of 100% recycled bottles! The company also uses cork and rubber for its bags.

You can love fashion and also love the environment!

TRY THESE SPORTS!

1 CYCLEBALL

This sport is like football on bikes. There are two teams. Each team has usually got two players. The bikes don't have any brakes to stop them. Players in each team try to hit the ball into the goal. They can use their bike or their heads to do this. The ball is quite heavy – it weighs half a kilogram. The winning team is the team with the most goals at the end of the game.

2 GILLI-DANDA

This is an ancient sport from India. The players use two things: one long stick, called a danda and a short egg-shaped bat, called a gilli. There are two teams. One player puts the gilli on the ground inside a small circle and hits it into the air with the danda. Then the player hits the gilli again and runs to touch a spot outside the circle to get a point.

3 OCTOPUSH

The sport is also called underwater hockey. There are two teams. Each team has got six players. Players swim underwater to play this game. They use small sticks and a puck. The puck is a little like a flat ball. It's heavy and weighs about a kilogram. Players try to push the puck along the bottom of a swimming pool into the other team's goal. The winning team is the team with the most goals at the end of the match.

What's it like to grow up in a big family?

by Ella Blackstone

I am the oldest of eight children. To me, my family is completely normal, but other people find it amazing. So, for everyone who's interested, here's what it's like to grow up in a big family!

Remembering the names, ages and birthdays of all your family members is really difficult. My parents often call my brothers and sisters by the wrong names. This is probably why our pets never had names.

Some of my friends get money for doing jobs around the house, but we certainly don't. In our house, the dishwasher is on nearly all the time, there are always clothes to wash or put away, and the tidying up never ends. We all have to help, even the little ones.

Every shelf in our house is full of prizes, for basketball, tennis, cricket and rugby. We are all really competitive. The clever ones want to be the cleverest, the pretty ones the prettiest, and the funny ones the funniest.

Being slow is not a good thing in a big family. You have to move quickly to get into the shower or to get the best seat in the minibus (big families don't have cars). And you have to eat fast, especially if there's cake in the house!

Yesterday, I saw my 7-year-old sister in my old dress. She probably got it from my 15-year old sister, who gets most of my things. We have to share bedrooms, toys, and even our parents' time. Sharing is not always easy, but we are quite good at it, luckily.

Life in a big family has its ups and downs, but I love it.
