

offer (n)
advantage (adj) (n)	One of the advantages of working here is its flexible working hours. You can work from home or take a day-off if you want.	/əd'vɑ:n.tɪdʒ/advantaged (adj)	His height and reach give him a big advantage over other basketball players.	/əd.væn'teɪ.dʒəs/advantageous (adj)	A new educational programme has been set up for economically disadvantaged children.
	The lower tax rate is particularly advantageous to poorer families.
apply (v) apply a job	By the time I saw the job advertised , it was already too late to apply .	/ə'plai/
apply apply a company		/æp.li'keɪ.fən/
applicant (n)		/æp.li.kənt/applicant (n)
advertise (v)	Many companies run advertisements in the magazine.	/əd.və.taɪz/
advertisement (n)	I'm going to advertise for someone to clean my house.	/əd'vɜ:tɪs.mənt/
= ad / advert	Fiona works in advertising .	/əd.və'taɪz.mənt/
notice an advertisement advertising (n)
manufacture (v)		/ˌmæn.jə'fæk.tʃər/
manufacturer (n)		/ˌmæn.jə'fæk.tʃə.rɪŋ/
manufacturer (n)
compete (v) + with	It's difficult for a small shop to compete with the big supermarkets.	/kəm'pi:t/
competitor (n)		/ˌkɒm.pə'tɪʃ.ən/
competitor (n)		/kəm'pet.ɪ.tər/competitive (adj)
competitiveness (n)
tag (v/n)		/tæg/
recommend (v) + to		/ˌrek.ə'mend/recommendation (n)
fluent (adj) / n	One of the requirements of the job is fluency in two or more African languages.	/'flu:ənt/
fluency (n)	He speaks fluently Chinese.	/'flu:ən.sɪ/
flexible (adj) / n		/'flek.sə.bəl/
flexibility (n)		/'flek.sə'bɪl.ə.ti/

5G: Students Holiday Jobs

fruit-picker (n)
dishwasher (n)
quality (n)	Their products are of very high quality . He has a lot of good quality but being organized isn't one of them.	/'kwɒl.ə.ti/physically fit	He plays sports very often, so he is physically fit .

5H: An Application Letter

address (v/n)	He likes to be addressed as "Doctor Johnson" instead of "Mr. Johnson". The issue of funding has yet to be addressed .	/ə'dres/ - /æd.res/sign (v/n)	Please print your name clearly below your signature .	/saɪn/signature (n/adj)	The restaurant's signature dish is salmon sashimi.	/'sɪɡ.nə.tʃər/
steward (n)	If you need help at any time during the conference, one of the stewards will be pleased to help you.	/'stju:.əd/

