

Bigfoot

Bigfoot is a mysterious creature that may live in the forests of north-west Canada. Some theories suggest that the creature might be a bear, and others that it could be a giant ape similar to a gorilla. Similar stories are also told in Indonesia and Australia and many say there must be some truth to them. Others say the creatures can't possibly exist as no one has ever been able to find a body or the remains of a body.

Presentation

You can use may, might, could, must, can't and couldn't to discuss possible and probable explanations of present situations:

It may live in the forests of north-west Canada.

The creature might be a bear.

It could be a giant ape.

Many say there must be some truth to the stories.

Others say they can't possibly exist.

may, might and could

You use may, might and could to say that you think something is possible but that you cannot be certain that is true:

The creature may / might / could be a bear.

may not and might not

You use may not and might not to say that you think it is possible that something is not true:

It may not exist.

can't and couldn't

You use can't and couldn't to say that you think something is impossible:

It can't be true.

must

You use must to say that you believe very strongly that something is true:

There must be some truth to the story.

You do not use mustn't to say that something is impossible:

Say It can't be true. (don't say It ~~mustn't~~ be true.)

May, might, could and must are modal verbs.

In the present and in the past

We use a modal verb + infinitive to talk about the present:

It may live in the forest.

When the action is in progress around the time of speaking, use modal verb + be + -ing:

He often goes to the forest at the weekend. He might be driving there now.

When you talk about certainty and possibility in the past, use modal verb + have + past participle:

They went to the forest. They might have lost their way.

Exercises

1 Choose the correct modal verb. Sometimes both are possible.

The Yeti, or Abominable Snowman

The Yeti, or Abominable Snowman, is another mysterious creature, similar to Bigfoot, that may or <sup>1</sup>can't / may not live in the Himalayas. Some theories suggest that the creature <sup>2</sup>could / may be an ape and others say it <sup>3</sup>might / must be an enormous grey wolf. Locals say there <sup>4</sup>must / couldn't be some truth to the story and point to giant footprints as proof of its existence. Scientists argue that it <sup>5</sup>can't / mustn't possibly be true as no real evidence has ever been found.
