

Countable and uncountable nouns

- 1 ☆ Complete the table with the words in the box.

butter cheese egg grape mushroom oil onion pasta pea sauce

Countable	Uncountable
pea

- 2 ☆☆ Complete the sentences with a, an, some or any.

- We don't have any oil, so we can't make fries.
- I want _____ cheese in my sandwich, please.
- I'd like to make _____ pasta for dinner tonight.
- He has _____ apple for lunch.
- I don't want _____ chocolate sauce, thanks.
- We need _____ knife to cut the cake.

there is/are

- 3 ☆ Complete the dialogue with the correct form of be.

Let's make an apple cake for dessert.

We can't. There 1 aren't any apples.

There 2 _____ some bananas. What about banana cake?

There 3 _____ any eggs.
How about making some ice cream?

But there 4 _____ any milk and it takes too long anyway.

There 5 _____ some chocolate and there 6 _____ some yogurts.

- 4 ☆☆ Complete the text with is, are, a, an or some.

Lady Dinah's Cat Emporium

There 1 are a lot of places in London for afternoon tea and cake, but there 2 _____ an unusual café near my house in Bethnal Green. We always call before we go and ask for 3 _____ table. There are 4 _____ interesting rules, like no children under 12 because there 5 _____ several cats in the café too. There's even 6 _____ Instagram® page with photos of the cats.

- 5 ☆☆☆ Find six differences between picture A and picture B.

A

B

- 1 In A there's some milk, but in B there isn't any milk.

- _____
- _____
- _____
- _____
- _____
- _____

- 6 ☆☆☆ Complete the sentences so they are true for you.

- In my fridge there's some _____, but there aren't any _____.
- For dinner tonight, I'd like some _____.