

We like judo

Judo is a martial art, a national sport in Japan, and a very popular martial art in the world. About 6 million registered exercisers in 188 different countries practice judo in their free time.

Judo means „gentle way". Students wear different-colored belts to show their level. The first belt is white. The other colors are yellow, orange, green, blue, brown, and black. When students are practicing for the next level, they wear a striped belt. The last belt is the black belt.

Write true or false:

1. Judo is a national sport in South Korea. _____
2. It isn't popular in other countries. _____
3. It means „gentle way". _____
4. Students wear different-colored belts to show their age. _____
5. The first belt is the yellow belt. _____
6. The last belt is the black belt. _____