

Write a Letter to your Future Self

Think back to the start of the school year, to the start of your time in Mark and Betsy's class. What were you like then? What have you learned since the start of the year? Then think about this summer and next school year, what goals do you have for next school year?

Below, write a letter to yourself. This letter should include a few sentences about what you learned this year (use past tense!). It should also include a few sentences about what you want to study next year and what you will do (use future tense!).

Mark and Betsy will make sure you receive this letter at the start of next school year to help encourage you at the start of next year!
