

FAMILIES ARUND THE WORLD

There are many types of families around the world. The nuclear family: which is composed of a mother, a father and children who live in the same house. The extended family consists of the nuclear family and relatives such as cousins, grandparents, uncle, and aunt. Besides, there are lone-parent families which are composed of one parent and children. The reconstituted families or step families: they are composed of a step-mother, a step-father and children.

There are other types of families like children's homes and foster homes in which parentless children live together sharing a home, like "Hogar de niños golondrinas"
