TILLY TIDY-UP - 1

Read the humorous poem.

Tilly Tidy-up was in a tizzy.
 The house was so clean that Tilly was dizzy.
 The food was ready. The drinks were poured.
 Soon the guests would knock at the door.
 The cat and dog — her heart's delight
 Were safely placed out of sight.
 None of her guests would hear a peep
 As they ate their cake and rested their feet.
 The time was passing happily.
 The guests were chatting noisily.
 When soon was heard a squeaking sound
 And chaos then was all around.
 The mouse sped in — the cat behind.
 The dog came next in record time.
 Round and round the tabletop
 The animals ran — and did not stop.
 Food and dishes fell in a heap.
 All the guests began to shriek.
 Mr Grumble, loud and round
 Began to laugh and Tilly soon found
 That all were having so much fun
 They even ate the mushy buns.
