

Read the blog post. Are these statements True (T) or False (F)?

Cyber Monday

Today is Cyber Monday here in the United States. No, it's not the name of a science fiction story. It's a day when there are special offers on shopping websites. More than 100 million people do online shopping on Cyber Monday and they spend nearly 2 billion dollars.

I'm not a fan of shopping and I hate the shopping centre. There are a lot of people and a lot of noise. But it's different on the Internet. You can look at different websites calmly and compare prices, all from your living room. If you surf the Internet, you can find what you want quickly and it's easy to pay. People don't need to worry about cash or change – you can pay with your credit card. Your shopping usually arrives at your house the next day.

Today I'm looking for a new top. There are lots of sweatshirts but not many jumpers. I want a jumper because it's autumn now and it's getting cold. I've got one jumper in my 'favourites' page but I'm waiting before I buy it. It's 20 dollars at the moment but I think I can get it for 10 dollars. Let's see ...

- | | |
|--|-----|
| 1 Cyber Monday is a science fiction story. | T/F |
| 2 People spend a lot of money on Cyber Monday. | T/F |
| 3 The writer likes going shopping. | T/F |
| 4 The writer thinks online shopping is convenient. | T/F |
| 5 You can pay for online shopping with cash. | T/F |
| 6 The writer wants to buy a new sweatshirt. | T/F |

🎧 Listen to two friends, Amber and Neil, talking about shopping. Choose the best answers, A, B or C.

- Who is Amber shopping with?
A her mum
B Neil
C her teacher
- What does she want to buy?
A some white trainers
B some basketball boots
C some clothes
- Why doesn't Amber buy the trainers in the sports shop?
A They haven't got any trainers.
B Their trainers are too simple.
C They haven't got her size.
- Where does Neil tell Amber to go?
A to a clothes shop
B to a shoe shop
C to another sports shop
- Where is the shop Neil mentions?
A in the shopping centre
B opposite a famous clothes shop
C next to a bank

🎧 Listen again and complete the sentences with one or two words in each gap.

- Amber doesn't really like shopping with her
- Amber's mum is using a to pay for the shopping.
- She doesn't like the of the trainers.
- Neil recommends a called Fit Feet.
- Fit Feet is on