

Tell other students about you

I've been studying English for three years. I've passed two exams and recently I've been preparing for a third. I think it's going to be really difficult so I've been taking extra classes at the weekend. In fact, I've just been looking at my homework for tomorrow's class. I need to go back now and finish it!

Presentation

To form the present perfect continuous, use have / has + been + verb + -ing

Affirmative and negative

I / You / We / They	've (have) haven't (have not)	been	preparing	for an exam.
He / She / It	's (has) hasn't (has not)

Questions

How long	have	I / you / we / they	been	studying English?
	has	he / she / it
	Have	I / you / we / they	been	studying English?
	Has	he / she / it

Short answers

Yes, I / you / we / they	have.	No, I / you / we / they	haven't.
Yes, he / she / it	has.	No, he / she / it	hasn't.

Use the present perfect continuous to talk about a long action or repeated action that started in the past and continues to the present:

I've just been looking at my homework. (continuous)

I've been going to extra classes at the weekend. (repeated)

We also use the present perfect continuous to talk about long actions in the past that have an effect on the present:

I've just been looking at my homework for tomorrow's class. (and now I need to finish it!)
