Match each supporting idea to the main idea that it supports.

> Graphic designers need to be very creative

> Elementary school teachers have a difficult job.

> Teaching young children can be very enjoyable

Their days are long, and there are often meetings after school.

The classroom activities and games are fun to do.

They think of ways to use pictures and words to help companies sell products.

They need to think of new ideas for their designs.

Children are very curious and like to learn things.

They need to use colors in interesting ways in their designs.

Young children usually love their teachers.

It can be tiring to manage a large class of children.

Teaching young children requires a lot of patience.