A map of Spain showing its 15 autonomous communities. Twelve of these communities are highlighted in light orange and each has a red arrow pointing to an empty white rectangular box for labeling. The boxes are located as follows: one in the north (Basque Country), one in the northeast (Catalonia), one in the northwest (Galicia), one on the northern coast (Asturias), one in the northwest (Castile and León), one in the west (Castile-La Mancha), one in the southwest (Andalusia), one in the south (Murcia), one in the southeast (Balearic Islands), one in the east (Valencia), one in the southeast (Alicante), and one in the south (Cantabria). The remaining three communities (Navarre, Aragon, and the Canary Islands) are white. A compass rose is in the top left, and a scale bar (0-105 km) is in the bottom right.
