Threat to Endangered Tigers and Elephants: Poaching for Trade

The scarcity of tigers and African elephants is more and more serious. They are endangered because poachers hunt them in order to sell tiger fur and elephant ivory.

At least 4,000 elephants are killed each year in order to meet the global demand for ivory, which is used to make carvings, jewelry and other products although it is illegal to sell ivory since 1989 anywhere.

"Americans should be aware that there is still a problem with elephant poaching and loss to the illegal ivory trade," Ginette Hemley, Fund's vice president for species conservation, told The Washington Post in September. And so our message is "Don't buy it, and don't take that chance."

A Wildlife Fund report states that the United States seized 8,300 illegal ivory items between 1995 and 2002. Each week there are about 1,000 ivory auctions, the report said. As for tigers, their parts are used in traditional Chinese medicine. Tiger bones are used as a pain reliever in traditional medicine. Even tiger's whiskers are sold because some people in Asia think they are a good-luck charm - like a rabbit's foot in the United States. "Part of our job is education," said Professor Dillon. "The other part is law enforcement. So, we have more than one strategy."

Standardized Tests for US University Admissions

People who wish to study at a US university usually have to take one of several standardized tests. Students (46)_____ to university for the first time may take the SAT (Scholastic Aptitude Test) or the ACT (American College Test). People (47)_____ want to do a higher degree may take the GRE (Graduate Record Examination), LSAT (Law School Admission Test) or MCAT (Medical College Admission Test), depending on (48)_____ they want to study. Students from other countries must usually show a knowledge (49)_____ English and the most common test for this purpose is the TOEFL (Test of English as a Foreign Language). Standardized tests often do not test how much people know about a subject, but how strong their skills are in (50)_____ like reading and solving problems. People do not pass or fail but instead each college or university decides on the lowest score it will accept. Test scores are never the only factor to be considered in deciding whether to offer a place to a student.
