Read the tips for dealing with emergency situations. Choose the correct answer.

1. The victim is unconscious.
   You _____ to check if the person is breathing.
2. Someone is seriously injured.
   You _____ to call an ambulance immediately.
3. The victim has got a spine injury.
   You_____ move the victim.
4. Someone is bleeding.
   You _____ apply pressure with a clean cloth.

Copy and complete the sentences with the modals below. Use each modal once.

1.

2.

3.

4.

5.

Choose the correct answer.

Every Minute Counts!

Do you want to save people's lives? There are many jobs that you [1] should / can / must choose from. You [2] must / need to / might become a doctor or nurse. But there are other options and for some of these jobs, you [3] mustn't / don't have to / shouldn't study for years and years. One job that involves saving lives but isn't so well-known is the job of organ courier. Organ couriers take body organs, like hearts, from hospital to hospital and sometimes from country to country. They have got a lot of responsibility. They [4] could / mustn't / must get to their destination quickly or a patient [5] should / might / may not die. A heart, for example, [6] needs to / shouldn't / can find a new body within four hours or it [7] doesn't have to / mustn't / might not survive. Delivering an organ to a patient [8] may / may not / can't be a very emotional experience. On the one hand, a courier often [9] must / couldn't / doesn't need to wait for one person to die in order to get an organ, and on the other hand, another person is waiting anxiously with family members and doctors for the courier. Do you think you [10] will be able to / should / have to work under physical and emotional stress? Then maybe you [11] must / need to / should think about becoming an organ courier. It's great to know that you [12] must / are able to / have to make a difference in the lives of other people.

