3 Read and mark the correct sentences.

Hey everybody, and welcome to my new blog! First of all, I'd like to thank all of you who read my last one and I appreciate your patience while I organised this new one. And what's changed here, you might be asking? Well, quite a lot! Not only has the design changed but also the content. I used to only focus on fashion but now I've decided to write about a wider variety of topics. So, let's get started!

This week I went to the opening of a fantastic new shop called Everything Ethical. It's a second hand shop which sells everything from clothes to CDs and DVDs and even recycled furniture. It also sells new items like jewellery and pottery which are made by local artisans. Click here to find out more.
