

If you meet the man of your dreams,

After your hands become coated with grease,

If you drop a tool, e.g. an eraser,

If you are doing something stupid,

If you dial a wrong number,

If you tell the boss you were late for work because you had a flat tire,

If you go out with no makeup with greasy hair wearing your worst clothes,

When you try to prove to someone that a machine doesn't work,

If you take your car to the carwash,

If you change queues or traffic lanes,

When you are out with someone you don't want to be seen with,

If you drop a toast,

As soon as you sit down to a cup of hot coffee,

At any event, e.g. a cinema, stadium, plane, etc,

If you wear a new expensive dress,

As soon as you find a product that you really like,

If you don't save things on your computer,

If you start to walk,

When you have done the wash-up and almost finished washing the sink,

...the phone will ring, or some one will knock on the door.

...they will have adjacent lockers.

...it will roll to the least accessible corner

...they will stop making it.

...you find an unwashed glass or fork somewhere.

...you'll never get a busy signal and someone will always answers

...the people whose seats are furthest from the aisle will arrive last.

...it will work.

...parts of your body will start to itch that you can't touch.

...the next morning it will rain.

...you'll always meet a family or friend.

...the very next morning you will have a flat tire.

...it will land on the face with butter on it.

...you'll spill something on it.
(And the stain won't go away.)

...you'll meet his beautiful wife, too.

...someone will always be there to see you.

...the monitor will freeze, or the lights will go out.

...your nose will begin to itch and you'll have to go to the rest room.

...you'll run into a lot of handsome boys.

...the one you were in will always move faster than the one you are in now.

...the bus will come.

...someone will ask you to do s.th which will last until the coffee is cold.