Virginia Otis- Sir Simon de Canterville - Washintong Otis-
Mr. Hiram B. Otis - Mrs. Umney- Mrs. Lucretia Otis - Lord Canterville -
the Otis Twins

He was a 16th-century English aristocrat who lived at Canterville Chase, where he murdered his wife. As a result, when he died nine years later, he became a ghost destined to haunt the house rather than moving on to a peaceful afterlife. He initially enjoyed his fame as the Canterville ghost, but after his unpleasant encounters with the Otis family, he begins to long for peaceful repose.

The adolescent daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis. She comes to live at Canterville Chase along with her family, and is one of few characters to show sympathy to the ghost.

He is a wealthy, middle-aged American man who purchases Canterville Chase in order to live there with his family. He is a pragmatic and no-nonsense character, but he also seems to be quite a lenient father since he makes no attempt to discipline his children for unruly behavior.

The youngest Otis children are a set of twin boys who are never named in the story. They spend most of the story tormenting the ghost, and they do not seem to be afraid of him at all.

He is the eldest child of the Otis family. He is almost twenty. He is good-looking and has fair hair.

She works as the housekeeper at Canterville Chase. She is initially employed by the Canterville family, but she continues to work there after the Otis family buys the property and moves in.

He is an English aristocrat and the descendant of Sir Simon. At the start of the story, he sells his ancestral family home to the Otis family.

She is the wife of the Mr. Hiram Otis. She is a beautiful woman and has four children, three boys and a girl.
