

Match the phrasal verb with its meaning

Give up

- Investigate

Put up with

- Arrive/ appear

Let someone down

- Start a journey

Set out/set off

- Escape

Go off

- Resemble e.g. father to son

Go off

- Recover

Go off

- Stop/ abandon/surrender

Look into

- Wait or hope for especially with pleasure

Look forward to

- Explode

Take after

- Tolerate

Make something up

- Disappoint

Make off

- Ring

Get on with

- Establish a friendly relationship

Get over

- Find by accident

Turn up

- Rot

Come across

- Invent (a story)/ pretend

Complete with a phrasal verb in the correct form give up put up with let someone down set out/set off go off go off look into look forward to take after make something up make off get on with get over turn up

1. Today is my last day at school. I'm really our holidays. I'm so excited! We to Buenos Aires tomorrow at 7:30 so the alarm clock will at 6:15.
2. It took her ten months to from the accident. Luckily she's at home now.
3. I was queuing at the bank when suddenly a robber I was really scared but I succeeded in calling the police. However, the robber managed to but the police and some detectives are the case. Apparently they've found some important clues.
4. Sonya used to be my best friend at school. We really well until one day she lied to me. She a story about my boyfriend being with other girl. When I realized she was lying I got very angry. I thought she was my friend but she me!
5. Don't your diet and have fruit for breakfast instead of bread. Those apples are I bought them for you one week ago!
6. I can't his bad mood anymore! He his father. He was also a moody man.
7. They found a bomb at the embassy. They call the brigade to deactivate it and luckily it didn't