The Typical British Teenager

Leisure time activities

Most teenagers are not very active. Their favourite pastime is watching TV or videos. Over 60% of British children and teenagers watch videos in their bedroom – on TV or on other devices. Boys watch TV or videos about 20 hours a week. They also like computer games. Sixty-five per cent play computer games and use a game console. A few teenagers have got their own tablets, and they spend a lot of time chatting to friends using them or their mobile phone. Another favourite pastime is listening to music. Seventy-eight per cent of teenagers lie listening to music, on various devices.

Sport

Around 50% of teenagers do sports for three hours a week or more. Seventy-five per cent of British boys play a team sport or game. But only 40% of girls do some sports. Favourite sports for boys are football, cricket, swimming and cycling. Favourite sports for girls are hockey, swimming, dancing and aerobics.

Possessions

We live in a consumer world and today's young people have got many things. These are the favourite possessions of British teenagers: their mobile phone (or tablet if they have one), their video games and their trainers.

School

British students usually go to school from Monday to Friday. Sometimes they go to school on Saturday when they're in a school sports team. The school day is usually from 9:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Students often have lunch at school in the canteen. They usually wear a uniform. Schools sometimes have “clubs” after school or during the lunch hour. These are usually music clubs (singing in a choir or playing an instrument in an orchestra), sport clubs or drama clubs. Ninety per cent of British children go to state schools. Only 9% go to private schools.
