A different life

Emma Livingston works for a children's organization in Africa. Every day, she writes her blog for an online news website.

Tuesday, 15th August

Every morning, I get up at 6 o'clock and go to the camp. One thousand families live there. They don't have much food or water.

At the moment, I'm working in the school and helping some teachers. I'm at the school right now. It's in a big, old house near the camp, and it's open to children from five to 12 years old. It's usually hot inside. I'm teaching three classes today.

When the children arrive at school at a quarter past seven, they go into the house and meet their friends. They talk and play games. They love games! Then, classes start at a quarter past eight. The children can speak a little English, but they can't write in English. I'm teaching them to write words and sentences.

The children love asking questions. They have questions about my life in England, my family, and about my boyfriend! The teachers make some food for the children, and they eat it before they go home. The children go back to their families in the afternoon.

There's a computer in the school and I use it to send emails to my family and my boyfriend. I usually have my dinner about 7 o'clock, but tonight I'm meeting my friend. She's from Germany and we're cooking something together.

A man on the moon

On 21st July 1969, American astronaut Neil Armstrong opened the door of the lunar module, the Eagle, and walked outside. He was on the moon. He was the first man in history to walk on the moon. It was a fantastic moment.

A few minutes later, Buzz Aldrin was the second man on the moon. Armstrong and Aldrin had a camera. They used it for photos and also filmed a short film about their short time on the moon. They also collected information and talked to the American president, Richard Nixon, on the phone. Nixon said it was an 'historic phone call'. They placed an American flag there and went back to Earth. 21st July 1969 was a very important and exciting day. On Earth, a lot of people listened to their radios all day because they wanted to hear the news about the men on the moon. And everybody in the world watched the news to see the first pictures of the men on the moon. Was it true? Was it real? People didn't believe what they saw. And today, some people over 50 can remember where they were when Armstrong walked on the moon.

In November 1969, the Americans travelled to the moon again and everybody watched. In the 1970s, astronauts went on five more trips. But after that, the American government decided that they didn't want to spend millions and millions of dollars on trips to the moon. The last man on the moon was there in 1972.
