Doctor Kennedy: Okay, does it affect how you walk?

Patient: I've had gout on my foot for a week.

Doctor Kennedy: What seems to be the problem?

Patient: I'd say 7.

Patient: Well, I came in today because the pain is getting worse.

Doctor Kennedy: Is the pain increasing or decreasing?

Patient: Yes, I need crutches to walk normally as it hurts so much.

Doctor Kennedy: So, on a scale from 1-10, how painful is it?

Patient: Thanks very much Dr.

Doctor Kennedy: Have you taken any medicine for it?

Patient: No, but I've been icing and elevating it three times a day.

Doctor Kennedy: I suggest that you continue to ice and elevate three times a day and, also I will prescribe you some anti-inflammatory medicine to reduce the swelling. Please take the medicine with food twice a day until it's finished. If the problem persists, please contact my office.
